Tonopah Is Here and Then Some

Whoop and hurrah and 'rah again!
Tonopah is not coming back. Oh, no! There is no come back to this game.

The boosting of this camp is all wool and a yard wide. There is nothing in the way of past records or achievements to come back. Tonopah never let its back. It always faces the future which grows brighter with the rising sun every day. Discouragement that confronts some camps and dampens the ardor of boosters has no place in the hearts of local men who feel the inspiration that must have animated the Crusaders when they looked forth and caught a glimpse of the spires of Jerusalem, and they knew they had established the cross in the land of the infidel.

This camp is coming down the home stretch with a rush that will land it under the wire with cyclonic sweep and raise it to the highest place in the mining records of the year.

Tonopah is here. Very much to that.

Three years ago the acknowledged mineralized area of the district was limited to a scant half mile fronting Main street and operations were conducted in a gingerly fashion as though the workers expected to find the bottom drop out with the next shot. Now the camp has proven up at least two miles and is still going north, south, east and west. On the west ore has been found in unprecedented quantities out on the flat where two years ago a man would have been laughed to death for suggesting the existence of ore.

The ore is there and in enormous bodies that cause a man to sneeze when he attempts a mental calculation of the amount of money embraced in the deposits. None of your small knife blade intrusions that might mean something big in the future but real ledges of Titanic magnitude that spells work for scores of men and dividends for capitalists who braved the scorn of their fellows by venturing out on the flat.

If the reader will only pause to think and try to let his imagination compass the significance of a fourteen foot ledge he will be in a frame of mind competent to grasp the existing situation. Such creations as the Woolworth building and other skyscrapers fade into paltry pigmy piles of inconsequential wealth when you appreciate the size of Tonopah's ore bodies.

There was a time not so long ago that the present generation does not remember when the business men of Butte got together and decided they had but one small chance of saving themselves from bankruptcy. They saw the huge mines of early days slowly exhaust their contents and their nights were filled with specters of bats haunting the town. Everything was at stake. If the ore bodies were going out it became only a question of time when the city would be depopulated. They did not lose courage in the face of such adversity but applied themselves renewed zeal to prospecting for other ledges of mineral. They were rewarded and today the best producing section of Butte is out on the formerly despoiled flat that none of the old time miners would look at. History is likely to be repeated in Tonopah. The trend of the ore bodies seems to be in the direction of the San Antonio desert and unless some fault should intervene it is not improbable that the mines of Tonopah will extend some day to Sodaville.

The developments of yesterday reveal abundant cause for felicitation and emphasize once more the necessity for the existence of some public body to look after the publicity interests of the camp. Tonopah is emerging from the swaddling clothes period and there should be one central body to safeguard the welfare of the community.

Trolley line accidents in southern California point the way to the stern demand for some revision of the system under which such lines operate. From all accounts most of these companies have been running by a rule of thumb method or no method at all. Oral orders and no way of converting claims of motormen that they were told to meet other trains at certain places are not susceptible of proof or contradiction. The penalty of death has been paid in fearful numbers on the Napa and Calistoga road which has been forced into insolvency by obligations contracted through a recent disaster. But that does not protect the living. What is wanted is more system and less recklessness.

Stratton's millions are undivided. His estate, estimated at $14,000,000 still remains in the hands of the courts and the trustees who were appointed to carry out his will and establish a home for the poor in Colorado Springs are enjoying salaries approximating $50,000 a year. These facts are recalled now, ten years after the death of Stratton by the appearance of an alleged widow seeking a share in the estate. This record is almost as good as that of Receiver Wildes, of the State Bank and Trust company, who has the staying qualities of a Barbary Coast soldier.

The sloughing off process has reached the school of Mines at Reno. Prof. Young, head of the Mackay School of Mines, and a recognized mining expert of this country, has resigned to go to the University of Minnesota as professor of mining and metallurgy. This is a crying shame for a great mineral state like Nevada to allow a rank outsider to come in and steal our best talent.

Get out your best bib and tucker and be prepared to make Tonopah howl next week when the transcontinental tourists come through. After touching at such places as Denver, and Salt Lake they will expect to see something big when they strike the silver camp.

Even an Arctic expedition cannot get along without an ice box these effeminate days. In the haste of departure the Crocker expedition left New York without this essential which had to be shipped by rail to meet the vessel at a Nova Scotia port.

When Tom Kearns of Utah told one of his reporters of the Salt Lake Tribune that he had discovered the key to the treasure vault of Tonopah on Hallifax ground he may be credited with knowing something whereof he spoke.

Autos have multiplied six times in the past two years in the United States and yet the dear people are asking where all the money has gone. The auto business is the best mine Michigan ever produced.

Lemons have reached the highest price in ten years. This does not refer to the lemon that McNab handed Attorney General McReynolds and President Woodrow Wilson from San Francisco.

Acting President Lewers, of the University of Nevada is going east to secure some cheap talent to fill pedagogical vacancies. How long will the tax payers stand for this management.

Thermometers in Chicago are not equal to the task of registering the heat and the public won't buy. That's why one firm of thermometer builders closed its doors yesterday.

What has become of that yapping of the Jap about war with Uncle Sam? Nippon must have seen a great white light. He has cut out the rough stuff altogether.

Now is the time for the pessimist to retire to his private ice chest and hold silent communion with himself on the prosperity of Tonopah.

The Balkan allies are still balking at the idea of building a permanent cote for the doves of peace.

Interesting Sidelights

Generally speaking will not Chicago be better off with $15,000 and without Jack Johnson?—Philadelphia Ledger.

Lowell, Mass., reports a band of seventy-five sun worshippers. Out here the soda fountain devotees are more in evidence.—Minneapolis Journal.

Giant crackers and shot guns are on the run, but making automobiles and excursion trains observe a safe and sane Fourth remains yet to be done.—Newark News.

Sandwich, Ill., has a man who has voted 21 times at presidential elections. It looks as if we beat that right here in Chicago last November.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Kansas City school children deposited more than $50,000 in the banks during the school year just closed. It pays to go to school, little ones.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The District of Columbia people want a substitute for hanging. As long as congressmen are not hanged, they see no reason why anybody else should be.—Kansas City Journal.

Not so many jokes about the income tax since the exemption was reduced to $3,000. Must be getting serious for the professional humorists.—San Francisco Chronicle.

OPENING NEW LINE OF THE ESPEE FROM FERNLEY

September 1 is the limit of time set for inaugurating regular freight and passenger service on the new Fernley-Lassen branch.

Thousands of men are working along the line, ballasting that portion already constructed, building permanent bridges and extending the road from Susanville a distance of about 30 miles westward into the timber country.

A daily minimum of 40 to 50 cars of lumber for eastern markets is assured by the Walker timber interests alone. The branch line was begun only a year ago and was rushed as fast as possible in order to transport to Susanville machinery for the largest saw mill in the world erected for the Walker interests.

A store that advertises must be a store of values—of "gargains" or the advertising would not pay.

Granted Insurance After Lung Trouble

So many cases of lung troubles start with a cold or a cough, the best advice that can be given is to get rid of the cold or cough as quickly as possible. Otherwise more serious troubles are likely to follow. If the medicines you are now taking do nothing for your cough and cold, try Eckman's Alternative, which has stood the test of time. Investigate this case:

"237 Dean St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"Dear Sirs: About a year and a half ago my health rapidly failed until at the end of six months my weight had fallen to 125 pounds. I was troubled with night sweats, a severe cough and was very weak. About this time I consulted a physician, who told me my lungs were affected. Not satisfied I went to another doctor, who, after examining me, said that I was in the first stages of consumption. At this point I started to take Eckman's Alternative. The night sweats stopped almost immediately, my cough became looser and gradually disappeared. My weight is now 142 pounds and my physician has pronounced me perfectly sound—which, together with the fact that I have been accepted by two different insurance companies for insurance, makes me sure of my entire recovery by Eckman's Alternative."
(Affidavit) W. E. OBE.

(Above abbreviated; more on request.) Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious in cases of severe throat and lung affections, bronchitis, bronchial asthma, stubborn colds and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. For sale by all leading druggists. Write The Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

OF COURSE, YOU WANT PLUMBING

All homes must have plumbing of some kind. The question is, what kind and how much plumbing? A bathroom and a kitchen sink are necessary and a set of stationary laundry trays are desirable, but all the fixtures should be of the best quality to insure lasting service and satisfaction. Call and investigate our plumbing service and "Standard" fixtures.
